product ● Redwood siding, paneling & decking

sources ● Dismantled structures throughout the West Coast region of the United States, including old barns and bridges; hops poles; wine, water, olive and other large-scale tanks.

dimensions ● From 5/8" to 1-1/12" thick x 2-1/2" to 8" wide x random lengths of 3' to 16'. Dimensions vary depending on application. Custom dimensions available.

millwork ● Shiplap profile with 1/4" reveal for standard siding and paneling. Radius edge, S4S for decking. Custom profiles and dimensions available.

character ● Vertical and mixed grain with nail, bolt and other fastener holes, oxide stains, seasoning checks and sound tight knots. Also wine and brine staining. Character varies depending on specific inventory.

finish ● Comes unfinished, unless otherwise specified.

LEED ● MR 4.1 & 4.2 (Recycled Content) and MR 5.1 & 5.2 (Regional Materials).
