A stellar example of what TerraMai does best - great looking, soulful reclaimed wood products designed and built for high-volume commercial projects. Perfect for residential and smaller commercial projects as well. We call this engineered flooring & paneling 'Mission Oak' not only to evoke the reverential use of oak during America's Mission and Craftsman eras, but also to reference TerraMai's mission to turn neglected wood into unique, high-performance products developed for the most sophisticated design projects.
